The Real Voice of Reason of The George Washington University

It's Monday, schmuck

GeeDub Dictator-for-Life Steve Tractorbutt, Sidekick Bobby C. and everyone's favorite monkey DiDi escape the floodwaters engulfing Smoggy Bottom. In the background, the crew team takes advantage of the new conditions and holds practice in the convenient location of the Quad.

Storm forces GW to cancel year

Students don't really care; ANC throws big-ass fiesta to celebrate

BY PSYCHO D. FREAKOUTSKI

I JUST CAN'T DEAL

Usually when GeeDub Prez-For-Life Stevie Ray Vaughn Tractorbutt gives his welcome to the school year, he is addressing actual students. But after severe weather conditions forced the University to cancel the entire academic year, he was left talking only to Chief Sidekick Booby Choinack.

The University hosted an abbreviated version of the 1995-96 school year after the real school year was canceled because of dangerous weather in the Smoggy Bottom area.

As Tractorbutt came to the podium to tell everyone to "get the hell out of here," cheers and shouts of "Tijuana, here we come!" erupted from the fewer than 200 students who bothered to show up for the announcement.

Once the school year was canceled, Choinack and his perpetually smiling staff tried to herd students into the Smithy Centre so Tractorbutt would have an audience for his pitiful ramblings.

Instead, chaos and confusion prevailed. Eventually, T-Berg spoke to an almost empty room and the proceedings were broadcast over WRTV, ensuring that no one would be listening anyway.

Some students said they heard an official announce the plans to cancel the year with a bull-horn on the Quad. Others, however, said the stampede of freshmen fleeing in the general direction of the Metro drowned out any announcements.

"There's no one trying to make any announcements, there's no flow of communication. And you know what? I don't give a shit!" one elated student said. "There's not a lot you can do about the weather, thank God."

Although the University's policy is to hold the school year "rain or shine," flooding from overflowing Thirsty Hall toilets presented a safety hazard. "We could not endanger anyone's life," said Vice-Prez for Useless Information Wally Bored. "When you go with an event like this, rain or shine we would have held the school year. But when it's a natural threat, you really have no choice. So fuck 'em!"

Bored said the University did formulate a plan earlier in the week when officials recognized the possibility that their own stupidity could affect GeeDub's ability to hold classes and other events this year. The plan called for sending as many students as possible to Georgetown University, since most of them wanted to go there in the first place.

However, the Georgetown snobs refused to accept GeeDub's second-rate idiots, and most students left campus before the truncated school year even began. (Editor's note: No, we don't have any idea what "truncated" means, but we like it.)

Members of the Angry Neighborhood Committee, meanwhile, were thrilled. "God damn! This is what we've been prayin' for," ANC Commish Sarah Mad Dog said from her front porch, as she aimed a sawed-off shotgun in the direction of a group of fleeing students. "No more pot-smoking, crab-infested students having sex on our lawns or stealing our mail anymore!"

Tractorbutt admitted that the cancellation of the school year would mean a much smaller celebration of GeeDub's 17,500th anniversary. "This is a terrible and tragic event," he said. "Just think of all those Pepsi cans gone to waste."

But Choinack sounded a hopeful note.

"Don't worry, we're going to have some wicked cool kegers at me and Linda's place to mark the big 1-7-5-0-0," he said. "You're all invited, so let's get stupid!"

Prez-turned-hippie SJT wants to rename GW

Retreat forces 'Sunshine' to pay attention

BY SMEE AND ANNEDELUSION DOG
JACK-BOOTED THUGS

Upon returning from a weekend sabbatical he described as "a warm effulgence of self-discovery" El Prèsidèntè Stepheno Joyl Tractor-slut announced that he no longer wants to be at the helm of a university named to popularize and glorify a colonial war-monger.

The GW President, who now prefers to be called "Sunshine," spent three days and two nights at The Utopia Within New Age retreat, meditating under the auspices of Sri Chinmoy, famed headliner of the Peace Concert last semester.

"When I realized the love swelling within my being, I understood that our University needs to make a change," Sunshine said.

Explaining that truth comes from the hearts of children, Sunshine is creating thousands of 3-D "Help Us Name Our School" posters, with suggestion forms to be distributed with Roy Roger's Kids Meals and also circulated at local day care centers.

"Really, we want everyone's suggestions. Except for white male Christian types who have so dominated our culture and our world for the past millennium," he said.

"No prizes will be awarded," he added, "for the tingle of knowing you have contributed to the great history of the University formerly known as George Washington should be prize enough."

Sunshine, who is now sporting

tie-dye T-shirts and cut-off jean shorts, suggested that possibilities for the school's new name may include the University Formerly Known as Prince or the Stephen Joel Trachtenberg University.

"Acknowledgment of both the African-American and Jewish minorities that have long been underrepresented in our white-male dominated, minority bashing culture is beyond overdue, as I learned this past weekend," Sunshine said. "Naming the University after me would enhance my already-enlarged personal ego, while nicknaming our sports teams the Steve-Dogs would help me to relive my childhood, regain touch with my inner child and femininity and learn to love myself again."

Team nickname suggestions also included the Sheena E's, "acknowledging the debt our society owes to not only musicians of a different color, but to womyn of such as well," Sunshine said.

Moron discovers sex ring; cites SA incest with JEC

BY CHOCOLATE EXLAX
SCRATCHIT LAXATIVE

GW candidate for President of the Stupid Association Cranky Moron allegedly uncovered an illicit sex ring involving members of the SA and the Joint-Smoking Election Coalition this week after entering the SA office and finding a wild screaming sex orgy.

"It was the most disgusting thing I've ever seen," Moron said. "I'm the outsider candidate and the least they could do is invite all of us non-SA people to join in. I've always said the SA is incestuous."

Moron, a 42-year-old senior who has yet to graduate, said he entered the offices of the Stupid Association Friday afternoon only to find Slut Mory and Married Condom giving oral sex to JEC Chief Shmuck Lawrence BigMacAttack.

However, it was not the sex that bothered Moron but rather BigMacAttack's age.

"The boy is eight years old, for crying out loud," Moron said. "If he was an adult, then maybe I could understand, but he looks like he's still in elementary school!"

BigMacAttack, however, defended his age and said he is an adult as far as he knows, despite his youthful looks.

Mory and Condom defended their actions, saying they just wanted to make sure that next year's elections "stayed in the family."

"I am from West Virginia, after all," Condom said.

Moron also said he ventured into Stupid Association President Reyonlds Wrap's office to find he and Vice Presidential candidate

Fartin' loud and smellin' nothing

(I smell a parenthetical rant; grab the laundry balls)

Mom, close your eyes. I'm just combing my hair in here.

(Allow me, gentle reader, to wax poetic about a subject I just love: ham. It reminds of a holiday I have been looking forward to for just about forever: Easter. Mmmmm, Easter. As the freaks in Billingsme, Montsantana, say: Happy Easter. And what about those freaks, anyway. Boy, every time you turn around, some new member of some radical fringe enclave – and we're not talking the Adversarial Neighborsinthehood Condemnation 2A, here – is blowin' up bunnies – and not the bunnies my best friend's roommate's Sartre-quotin' brother is always smellin'.)

Which leads me to the point of the segue to the rest of this article: What the hell are you going to do with your life? I mean, all the things worth doing have already been done by people like Tito Puente, right? At times like these, I thank whoever is in charge that ABA "Dancin' Old Man Blither" E-Bone is always there to reassure me that whatever you do, someone will always pay you to speak about it, ad nauseum.

What's that strange smell? Laundry – what is it?

Uh-huh, oh yeah, woo-hoo, bally-hoo.

Oh, and when it comes to laundry, I'm glad to see my friend Clairvoyant's idea for laundry balls has finally been picked up by The Washington Post Style section. Granted, she's been talking about laundry balls for years, now.

(Laundry balls, by the way, "turn with laundries by water stream in washing machine. When turning with laundries, the balls prevent to twisting of each laundries and striking the dirty parts on laundries," at least according to the package.)

I always use laundry balls to get the smoke smell out of my clothes. That's cause I smoke. Sorry mom. It's true. We got a little something we like to call The GW Hatchet April Fool's Issue.

Oh no, I think I've just gone and rambled again. It's a nasty little, but much ballyhooed, habit of mine. Most of my friends back home in Montsantana do the same thing, especially around this time of year.

And how about those Montsantana State Grizzlies? Is that something or what? They battled Syracuse all the way to the end of the NCAA Tournament opening round. And now, Syracuse is in Monday night's championship game. By the transitive property, the hometown Grizzlies could be the second-best team in the whole damn country. Not bad for white-boy basketball.

I'm so proud of them. You know, my mom went to Montsantana State. I always think of her during basketball season, especially when the Grizzlies are in the Big Dance.

GW cuts costs, gives cable; students bitch

BY JARHEAD SHIRK
NO RESPONSIBILITY, WHATSOEVER

In a surprise announcement, the Gorge Everystudentintown University announced it would reverse decades-long policies of pillaging its student body.

In the first of sweeping new changes, campus President S. Billy Joel Trackabourge said tuition would drop 50.964 percent for the next school year. The change in policy comes amid recent allegations that the tyrant who runs Donna Rice Hall with a tire-iron belly was planning to embezzle new funds to finance his crack habit.

"Yeah, it's true. He bought from me for years," District Mayor Marian Berrie said Friday. "But it was getting expensive. I think he saw me go down and he saw the end coming soon for himself, too."

Traxenberg denied the charge, citing a plethora of other changes to come soon to the University. For example, every residence hall will be equipped with cable television next year. In addition, each room will also have high-speed data lines.

Office of Residential Death officials promised the new services would be in place by next fall, in time for each on-campus resident to watch Pogram Bored-sponsored pornographic movies in the comfort of their own rooms.

Furthermore, despite recent indications to the contrary, campus Dining Disservices sources said they are not cutting back on food service. In fact, officials announced last week the hiring of Julia Child to cook at J Street.

"We're making a real effort to turn things around," said Narcky Hag, dominatrix of supplemental and useless services. "People think we don't like students. That's not true. We really don't like anybody."

Gelwoman Library, meanwhile, put on display for the first time its newly acquired additions: the Magna Carta, the Dead Sea Scrolls, the U.S. Constitution and the Ten Commandments. Librarians promised each would be available to check out, once they find exactly where they left them.

Gorged students expressed immediate reactions.

"I can't believe this," said one student who actually is anonymous. "All this school ever does is try and confuse us. First it's up, then it's down. It's like some kind of bad porno movie."

"What kind of shit is this," asked another, who forgot his name. "The goddamn U.S. Constitution was written by a bunch of slave-ownin' bastards. What do we want with that thing?"

Still another was concerned that cable in the residence halls would result in the end of business for such off-campus establishments as Joanna's and Badlands. "All we'll do now is sit at home and watch pay-per-view porn."

It's expensive these days, huh?

THE GW HATCHET

An Independent Student Newspaper

Kudos to school daze

With its latest pathetic attempt to prove that it can do anything, the Stooges' Association once again failed miserably. So let's just say it now for the record: the SA sucks.

Ineptitude is written all over this farce of an organization. Current President Dark Panholders and President-elect Dim Sum Macintosh are really puppets for that megalomaniac Stark Bore-me. We swear, Bore-me can tell his lackeys to crap and they'll ask, "How brown?"

When was the last time the Stupid Association did anything? The book exchange? Please. We're sure the bookstore is shaking in its boots after the SA sold four books for the whopping total of eight bucks. Plus, why doesn't the SA do anything about the tyranny of ERRORMark? Probably because its members are perfectly happy licking scraps of lobster and caviar off of Tractorbutt's bib. And once and for all, would you please tell that little elf Q to dance the hell out of our faces?

All those stupid dorks do is use their little club to collect perks and swap sexual partners with each other. Fine with us - they're all ugly. There's no other way to say it: the SA sucks.

That's not to say, however, that the Stupendous Association doesn't deserve all the credit in the world for its tremendous job this year. Excellence is written all over this model for student activism. We should be proud to have three such strong-minded and independent leaders as Mark Reynolds, Damian McKenna and Scott Mory. Anyone can ask for a helping hand and they'll ask, "How can we help you?"

The glowing track record of our Super Association is beyond dispute. Who hasn't profited from the monopoly-busting book exchange? And while ARAMark has raised concerns with its unfair dining proposals, we are sure that it's just a matter of time before our SA comes to the rescue. Furthermore, who can match the charm of Q, that off-campus crusader?

With such an active, diverse and strikingly handsome group of crusading activists, we only wish that they could serve our community for more than four years. We just can't contain our joy! The SA rules!

Dazed by school kudos

They don't want us to live off campus. They don't want our campus to house a TV station for fear of being killed by harmful radiation. They won't let us build the Health and Wellness Center.

The time for diplomacy has ended. Let's kill everyone in Foggy Bottom.

For every one of their 400 bitter years on this earth, the members of the Adversarial Neighbors Commission have bitched and moaned about how we steal their mail, how we throw loud parties and how we have sex on their lawns. And we've done all of that. But now it's time to really give those calcified shells something to cry about.

First we're gonna kick one particularly decrepit resident out of her house and to the curb. Then we'll have a loud party in her house and have sex on her mail. Then we'll build the biggest damn television antennae you've ever seen and broadcast feedback-infused music videos day and night!

We already have a spy in their ranks. Cuminbars "Cuminbars Goldaardvark" Goldaardvark is plotting as we speak under the guise of SA appointment, a friendly smile and a goofy dance. Soon he will return from Babylon with plans to attack, and when he does, the revolution will commence. Rise, brothers and sisters! The only thing standing between ourselves and destiny is a bunch of old fogeys!

LETTERS, COMPLAINTS, MOANS

Copygate

On Tuesday, Jan. 30th, at about 11:15 a.m., I went to the fourth floor of the Marvin Center to get to the bottom of this thing some students at GW call "going to class."

On my way past the SA office I heard the voice of current SA President Mark Reynolds, one of the many acquaintances I've picked up during my nine-and-a-half years here. Hoping he could tell me who my professor was in exchange for a ride to Dayton for the next women's jai-alai match, I stopped in to say hello.

What I saw confirmed all my suspicions of the SA.

When I walked through the open door, I saw SA Sgnate Chair of Making Scoot Glory Chair of Everything Scoot Glory and SA Vice President for Anonymous SA Busy-Work Many Condoms sitting on the photocopier. Glory tried to pull up his pants as he saw me, but it was no use.

After telling Glory, who is also an acquaintance, "Don't point that thing at me," I asked Reynolds if what they were doing was allowed. He said that he hadn't issued an executive order banning SA members from personal use of the photocopier, but that he would as soon as he got his turn.

Your money went to buy that photocopier, and when SA insiders use it for their own jollies it is not a victimless crime. I know - I'll never forget the sight of the Great White Whale.

OPIUM

Oh, Jackson, I gotta rant that grammar just can't stop!

Dearest Joel and Co.,

We have all been bamboozled and gypped. We are all paying the price for your Mr. Burns-esque, money sucking, addiction. OK, granted we've been screwed in varying degrees, but you can surely expect that we will not be divided (which is the first thing you'll look to do, I'm sure) by creed, previous socio-economic status, race, sex, opinion of O.J., sexual orientation, fraternity, sorority or any other prejudice you could possibly try and cook up. Oh, Sugar, what a glorious day it will be! And if some feel that these issues do not effect them and so it is only their neighbors business and not their own, and will not stand next to their roommates, floormates, acquaintances, occasional sex partners and brethren in arms, then I ask this: Aren't thou thy brothers keeper? Have we forgotten the Typhus infected, Irish widow of Sator Resartus? A lesson we all should learn? Nay! Let us not! We are all one anothers keeper! We are keepers, even, of disturbed, addicted, maniacal buggers like yourself, whether we like it or not. We all, down here, selling our souls for a little education, know that. And showering us in sickly chlorinated sewer water isn't gonna make us forget it either. Get it? Its from all of our mouths (and/or our poor, hard working, helot parents') that you are stealing the kind of high grade quality ground chuck that the absurdly steep prices we pay should be buying, and in its place feeding us last weeks veggies and rotisserie chickens that fell off the truck. Were talking SEVEN bucks for a leg of chicken and some slop. Now for seven bucks, not only do I not want the thing to be seriously dehydrated like some National Lampoons Christmas turkey, but I also don't want it to have been killed by your cousin Jed down in Deliverance country bashing it over the head with a tree limb and thrown offa pickup at a meeting place on the 295. I want free range. For seven bucks I want somebody to wipe that chickens ass and give it a phone call before its killed. In fact I want you to wipe its ass. Then I'll pay seven bucks. Yeah, for that I'd pay eight- and be polite about it. [All right, all right, carried away again. I must restrain myself. I forgot I'm supposed to be giving you a chance here. The facts will have to wait a week or so, but they will come. Oh, Jackson, they will come!]

So, if you do not implement some serious changes, Even Steven, I will blow the whistle in a gross way. Oh, yeah there are a lot of youngins out there who are pissed off they didn't get those classes they wanted and IQ bet dollars to doughnuts (not those expensive ones at J. St. of course) that under their pillows there are more darts, bats and 357s than grown out teeth. Yes sir our kids are mad as hell. And probably drunk too. Oh, boy watch out now! I wouldn't suggest Educated Choices to them just yet, if you know what I mean, Stevo. Why don't we at least wait till the deep Ganja haze wears off and they stop seeing your head on the Hamburgler's body, O.K.? (you don't want to let a gun toting drunk with the munchies think you're running off with his hamburger- believe me I've been there and I'm just looking out for your own good.)

That's right, I said I'm gonna blow the whistle. And I'm gonna toot the horn, and I'm gonna make the call and I'm gonna play the music. And I'm gonna play it loud. I'll say that again. Here's the deal: Stop cheating us of our money or the author of this note will follow up through this same publisher, with a very honest, factual and insightful (with top secret university info.) letter revealing all your tuition raising, quality slashing moves you thought were swept under the carpet. I may even throw in a few names of recipients of some very generous and very bogus scholarships, at great cost to the University funders (i.e. the students and their parents, because who else would be crazy enough to pay for a scholarship to be given to some kid of an old buddy of the Presidents- or his niece, or godson etc.). The letter will undoubtedly cause major insurrection, rebellion, revolution and unquestionably some looting of Gelman- encyclopedias, desks, toilet paper- that sort of thing. Yup there will be unabashed use of the Aladin system for hours on end regardless of what high-ranking, impatient and ill-mannered faculty member may be waiting (oh, I don't mean to be hard on them- they're underpaid (sometimes) and overworked. Its not their fault there's not enough professors). Some may even dare to use the designated handicapped Aladin station while our wheelchaired and wounded, gulf war vets wait haplessly in the wings which would of course bring the P.H.U.C.U. (Peoples Handicapped Under Christ at the University) down on you like a bucket of boiling water.

So treat this as a friendly note of warning; or a precursor to a second coming of sorts. Ask yourself if you wanna face this rough beast, its hour possibly come at last, slouching toward our Foggiest of Bottoms. And ask yourself, my sweet, sweet Hamburgler if not now is perhaps the moment to change your ways and make penance to those worked, cheated and slapped like a rented mule or the blind man you probably play in chess.

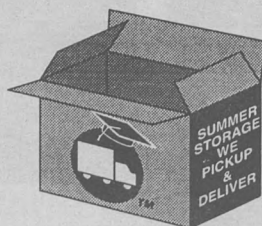

- T.S. Manoshevitz is the bona fide freak who actually submitted this letter to the Hatchet in October. We at the Hatchet made no corrections in spelling, grammar to preserve the letter's incomprehensible sanctity - and also because editing is such a bother. We're not sure if he's joking, but we hope not.

The rag formerly known as the GW Hatchet, 2140 G St. N.W, Washington, D.C 20052 (via C.B. at breaker breaker I got a smokey on my tail), is published by Hatchet Publications Inc., an independent, non-profit corporation serving fresh, buttery biscuits all day long. The Board of Directors of Hatchet Publications Inc. consists of a large, surly band of rhesus monkeys, so don't piss them off. Remember, people, if the movie Outbreak taught us anything, it's don't piss off the monkeys, or wham! they'll spit on you and your eyes will hemorrhage. All inquiries, comments and complaints should be blown directly out your ass. Opinions expressed in signed columns are those of the authors and GW Hatchet editorials represent the opinions of the newspaper's editorial staff, and if you really needed clarification on that you should beat yourself on the head with a mallet because you are retarded. For information on advertising rates, you might as well call your mom, because we sure as hell don't know them. Your mom, incidentally, is a filthy whore. Deadlines for submitting letters to the editor and opinion columns don't mean a thing to us, since we'd rather run stupid cartoons about eskimos. Students plot diversity's downfall for campus, world

BY PRICKALESS PRONAZIO, III
OVERSEER

(Editor's Note: This article originally appeared in The Abhority, but we chose to reprint it for our readers' enjoyment. It was so perfect, we didn't even copy edit.)

On March 32, the year of our Lord (and there's only one God, infidels!), 1996, we, uh, I... er. the AmeriKan Kollege Konservators of All Those Like Us, held a meeting with Grand Exulted Wizard Master Kim in which we discussed genocide and other good ideas.

The meeting was held in the Gel'mon Library at the Liberal Breeding, Flower Child Lovin', Hummus-Eatin', Menorah-Kissin', skool. The problem with Gw is that all of the profs heer indoctrinate impressionable young minds in the ways of leftist, lesbian, communist thought and all that is unAmerican.

"If I had my way, the honorable Pat Puke-Cannon would decide the curriculum here," I, Prickless Pronazio, iii, expostulated. "God, I'm good."

Next, I wanted to adress national newz. This country should not allow immigrants in, and EVERY-ONE should pray in school, and no one can have abortions, and guns should be owned by all, and by the way, they're should be no big government telling me what to do. "I hate hypocrits; I make sure that none of my views or beliefs are hypocritical," Pronazio the VII said. "Marines like myself are taught never to be hypocritical or fat, but to be more like Braveheart, which is the greatest, deepest and most American movie. I would review it again and again. Semper Fi, do or die, gung ho gung ho. Indisputandem de pluribus omnibus tartus cartus."

At the Meeting, topics of discussion were discussed like what a truly independent, objective publication The Abhority Newspaper was and how lucky every brainwashed drone at the George Washinton University is that The Incontinence Magazine is has been continued in exactly the same format with the same flawless copyediting to offset the mindless rants of the PSU.

Of course, you won't find it in the Bookstore, which should be burnde (SEE KKK, P.666)

GeeDub needs zillions to feed Stevie Joe's face

As most students know, good old GeeDub this year kicked off the We'll Never Raise That Much Cash in Centuries Campaign, yet another plan to pick the pockets of alumni (except the bitter Class of 1995, who are still wringing out their mortarboards).

But what many don't know is the real reason GeeDubbya Head Honcho S.J. Tractorbootie needs $300 zillion. Three words, kiddos - more burger money.

That's right, Steve-O has finally admitted the truth. In an exclusive interview, The Prez said his expense account just isn't covering the daily purchase of his namesake burger at the nearby Windy's Gone Appetite.

"More Trachtenburger! More!" Stevie T. was also heard screeching from the balcony of his Ricecake Hall penthouse palace. "Goddammit, where's the $%#^@ ketchup?"

Bobbit, Royale join faculty

Celebs displace standbys, bring real-world expertise

BY BEN (NO RELATION TO OZZY) OSBORNE
WESTCHESTER COUNTY BUREAU

University officials announced this week that porn star John Wayne Bobbit will make yet another appearance at GW, this time as a professor in the Women's Studies department.

Bobbit, who was dismembered by his knife-wielding wife Lorena, will teach a class entitled "Sensitivity and Recovery 101."

"I think I have a lot to share with female students," Bobbit said. "I may not be everything I used to be, but I know it still works."

Also joining the GW faculty will be CandyBar Royale, director of the feminist porn-fest movie Revelations. Royale will teach in the Mental Radio/TB department, starting with a class called "Pissing off Male Horndogs with Porn for Women, by Women."

This latest move angered GW Professors-for-life Marvin Kalb and ABA "Dancing Queen" Eban, both of whom felt their territory was being intruded upon by more infamous celebrities.

"No one's going to take over my turf," Eban said. "I will never leave! Never!"

Kalb, on the other hand, was not quite as upset as Eban and said the time off will allow him to finally find a good tie to wear to his Kalb Reports.

In related GW celebrity news, Director of the Office of Residential Strife Shiela ShowerCurtain announced that Thurston Hall will be renamed

"John Wayne and Lorena Bobbit Hall" in honor of the new professor and his disgruntled wife.

"Hopefully the amount of sex that goes on in Thurston will not lead to any incidents like the one that have made the new namesakes so famous," ShowerCurtain said. "But hey, for a dorm with as much nooky going on as Thurston, we thought the name should be related."

However, the new name to the most sexually active dorm in the western hemisphere has members of the Wimmin's Issues Now, Damn! student group enraged.

"Some of the male residents of the new Bobbit Hall may end up losing their masculinity," WIND Chairthing Iate Allmen said. "Lorena's struggle has become our own!"

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

EXERCISE REGULARLY AND YOU COULD LIVE LONGER.
INVEST REGULARLY SO YOU CAN AFFORD TO.

Americans are living longer than ever. So it's quite possible you'll spend 20 or 30 years or more in retirement. Can you afford it? Unless you're independently wealthy, chances are you'll need more than your pension and Social Security to support the kind of lifestyle you'll want.

How can you help ensure that you'll be in good financial shape? Sign up for TIAA-CREF SRAs — tax-deferred annuities available only to people in education and research.

SRAs are easy. No pain, no sweat.

The best way to build strength — physical or fiscal — is to start at a level that's comfortable and add to your regimen as you go along.

With TIAA-CREF SRAs, you conveniently contribute through your employer's payroll system. You can start with a modest amount and increase your contribution as your salary grows.

The important thing is to start now. Delaying for even a year or two can have a big impact on the amount of income you'll have when you retire.

TIAA-CREF:

Your fiscal fitness program.

TIAA-CREF is the nation's largest retirement system, managing over $150 billion in assets for more than 1.7 million people. We offer a wide range of SRA allocation choices, long-term investment expertise, and remarkably low expenses!

Would you like fries with that Furburger?

BY ELLIS DEE

MANAGE A TROIS EDITOR

You're sitting all alone in your Bitchell Hall single feelin' like you have an itch that needs scratchin' (and it ain't scabies). Normally, you'd go out and find yourself someone to lay down and swap spit with, but it's cold outside and that would also involve actually talking to one of those 6,000 stupid, annoying people you slog to class with day after day.

So why not curl up with a bottle of Lubriderm and a favorite movie from your friendly neighborhood Phallus Video? It's a sure way to heat up those chilly winter nights. Here's one I reviewed recently, with a handy rating of one flaccid penis for tepid, juvenile pornography instead of the five rigid peckers I would award to steamy-flesh-bouncing-off-the-walls-family-entertainment:

FURBURGERS (Home of the Box Lunch) – Pathetic, low-quality flick about competing burger joints where meat and bread take a backseat to buns and beef. Although the fast food scenario is just ripe for the porn genre, about the only good thing about this effort is the title.

Mary Beth is the enigmatic heroine who has just taken a job with Burgerama. Her boss, Eugene, immediately takes her to task. You can tell who he is because his hat says "BOSS." He seduces her with some classy pigeon French, Woody Harrelson looks and the memorable line: "Shit, girl, you know you're built like a brick shithouse?"

The main problem with this porno is that the sex scenes – sex scenes are sort of vital to pornos – which punctuate the plodding, melodramatic plotline are abrupt, badly filmed and dull. One minute they're talking in bad southern accents and the next you see a blurry shot of her giving him head. I mean, c'mon people, how about some foreplay?

The Sega-like background music does offer some nice surprises (lyrics like "I ain't crazy, I want furburgers!" sung Reba McEntire-style), but it tends to cut out at inopportune times – like right before the cum shots.

The obligatory lesbian scene (i.e., writhing mass of flesh) occurs when Mary Beth's co-workers decide to rebel against Eugene with her, which just goes to show that you can't get good help these days, even when your help is seven 35-year-old golden Spandex-clad women in their middle to late porn careers.

But if you see this movie for no other reason (and, really, why wouldn't you?), see it for the cheesy binocular special effects, which consist of two uneven, jagged circles cut out of black construction paper. As Eugene says, "Hot damn! We're cookin' now!"

Other recommendations include Girls In The Hood, Foreskin Gump, Juranal Park, The Load Warriors, Gang Bang Jizz Queen, Edward Penishands, Robofox, Cum Gargling Naked Sluts, Cumming In Socks, Fatliners and Ass Ventura, Crack Detective. And it wouldn't be D.C. if Phallus didn't offer Debbie For President.

Maury makes mayhem as Disney's devilish puppeteer

BY EBERT'S SISTER

HE'S THE FAT ONE

Be afraid, be very afraid: Walt Disney has entered the realm of horror films.

Disney's animating fools are invading the genre ruled by Freddie and Jason, dragging down the childhood classic Pinocchio with a ridiculous sequel in The Puppet Master.

The Puppet Master stars Snot Maury (John Wayne Bobbitt: Uncut, Revelations) as Geppetto, the once-kindly carpenter whose mind comes under the control of a diabolic alien life. Geppetto creates an army of mischievous little puppets who do his evil on a fictional college campus in Washington, D.C.

The film is highly improbable: Geppetto gets his puppets elected to student government positions, yet no one notices that they have strings attached to their major joints or that he hovers above them constantly, grinning madly.

Newcomers Wrap Reynolds and Damian, son of Beezlebub and a mortal mother, star as Geppetto's lame duck and prospective presidential puppets, respectively. They are believable as wooden boys, especially in the way that their hair is always perfect.

Once in office, the puppets produce incomplete student telephone directories and refuse to be advocates for student issues. The alien that seized Geppetto has multiplied by now and is slowly taking control of the rest of the student body, including the student newspaper staff, which endorses Geppetto's puppet in the election.

Few remain sane to bitch about the do-nothing Silent Association. Those who do organize a posse to run against the puppets in the upcoming SA elections. Cracky Moron, the oldest college student alive, emerges as the frontrunner.

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the film is Mahria Doldrum's contribution as Jiminia Cockroach. Partly a human under Geppetto's control and partly an independent household pest, she displays incredible versatility playing both a mindless tool and bossy biatch.

Her involvement with the puppets in using the SA's photocopier to make pictures of their butts demonstrates her final downturn to join Geppetto on the dark side.

The movie climaxes with the SA elections for the following year. Damian takes on Moron in a passionate contest of puppet versus non-puppet.

Besides the student newspaper, Damian earns the endorsement of the Muppets. Moron gets endorsed by the school's men's basketball team, which has escaped the terror of getting possessed because they were in Arizona, losing a 17-point lead and the game to Iowa.

Because he commands the minds of most of the voters, Geppetto is able to mastermind a win for his puppet candidate. This leaves the film wide open for a sequel.

The sequel gets a big thumbs down already, because it will have the same problem as this film: irrelevance. No one cares about the SA being controlled by a puppeteer, because it can't do anything anyway. It might as well be comprised of puppets. Or monkeys.

BY GOLLY AMISTUFFED
GORGES HERSELF

A good restaurant is hard to find in the Misty Butt section of the District. Sure there's T.G.I. Viernes', but the servers ... well, let's just say T.G.I. could mean They're Gonna Ignore. As for the food ... well, the letters could also stand for The Grub's Icky.

Little good can be said about two other local eateries: Bertucciski's and the Boner, both in the 2000 Penn shopping complex. Bertucciski's serves only Polish food and plays bad polka Muzak.

The Boner is the home of the Tractorburger Helper. If you eat too many of the greasy little buggers, you're guaranteed to end up looking like GeeDub's prestigious yet portly prez.

That's why the new restaurant Nick's at 2401 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W., is such a rare treat for Cloudy Rear End.

Nick's has an unusual location – underground. The place doesn't have a single window on the restaurant level. It's probably a big ole' fire trap, but we don't mean to sound pessimistic. The food's so damn tasty that it would make a fine last supper.

Restaurant Review

The dining room is situated at the bottom of a wide wooden staircase. The stairs would make the perfect place for patrons to sit while waiting for a table, but Nick's has never had to utilize them for this purpose.

Fast service and good use of space insures a fast turning of tables.

You'll never walk into Nick's and hear "Party of five? The wait for a table is an hour."

(By the way, that "Party of Five" is such a good show. I'm so glad Fox renewed it. And then it goes on to win the Golden Globe for Best Dramatic Series. I mean, it's no Emmy, but you've gotta be happy for those kids.)

And while we're on the subject, why do you think it is that Julia is so damn unhappy all the time? You see her dancing around with the baby, who incidentally grew up really fast, in the show's credits, but that is the only time I've ever seen her smile. She must be perpetually constipated.)

Constipation is one thing you'll never experience after eating at Nick's. The only thing more notable than the food at Nick's is the fast and friendly service. They love students at Nick's! After your party is seated, the server will be at your table in a flash and hover nearby for the remainder of the meal to ensure your every desire is fulfilled.

A refill on your soda? No problem! Your bill? Right away! Someone to do your chemistry problem set so you can sit here and scarf up another slice of Oreo Cheesecake, you piggy? We can arrange that!

Even the pickiest of diners will be eternally satisfied with a meal at Nick's. You'll never have to call over the manager to complain that your food wasn't hot or that your waiter disappeared after taking your drink orders. You'll never have to demand that part or all of your meal be taken off the bill because you've had such a shitty dining experience.

And speaking of the bill, it won't be high, but it doesn't matter because students can use their meal cards to pay it at Nick's.

We can't say enough good about Nick's. Eat there early. Eat there often. Make the best of it, before Nancy Hag'A and her henchmen at Depleting Dining Services decrees there'll be no more off-campus partners on the meal plan and that we all have to eat Itza Liver and Onions, the new on-campus delivery service of food my dog wouldn't eat.

Marvin Center used by 'off campus men' for sexcapades

(Editor's note - OK, it's April Fool's, and instead of being creative, I snagged a story from the Feb. 15, 1990 edition of The GW Hatchet - yes the following is an actual, factual story that appeared in our pages. It's a hell of a lot funnier than anything I could have come up with. Even though only Jon Tarnow and Packy Moran will remember the incident, I am admitting this anyway, to prove that fact is more hysterical than fiction - at least any fiction I could invent. - Shumel von Poo)

BY KANT RIGHT
MANIACAL DWEEB

Illicit homosexual activity in the Marvin Center men's room is a serious "nuisance," posing a security risk to the building, and earlier attempts to thwart the activity have failed (could this lead get any longer, wait, look, yes it can) according to Marvin Center and University Police officials.

The actions in the men's rooms "represent a significant nuisance to the members of the University community using the bathroom for necessary purposes," Marvin Center director Le Norman St. Rong said.

The activities center around off-campus men, (just what is an off-campus man anyway?) and are not unique to the Marvin Center. Similar activities have been reported in Fonger Hall and the Hall of Government, University Police officials said, adding that private buildings at other D.C. colleges have similar problems.

In Bob Dornan's 1989 Address Book, a North American guidebook for homosexuals, the Marvin Center is referred to as a Washington, D.C. gay "cruising area," along with buildings at Catholic, Howard and Georgetown. (Who did the research for this story?)

At least four off-campus men have received warnings from GW security this year for reported "suspicious" activities in the Marvin Center bathrooms, according to University Police records.

When a "suspicious" person is reported in the Marvin Center, security officers will approach the person in question and request identification, said University Police director Curtis Goode. If the person doesn't provide GW ID or is in the building "without lawful authority," the person will be given a "barring notice."

The security officer will then write the nature of the incident and personal identification on the notice (and this has what to do with this story?), which states that the person will be arrested if a second violation is reported.

Homosexual activities have been reported in the Marvin Center bathrooms since the building was built in 1620; and increasing and decreasing reports of such incidents are part of the never-ending cycle dependent on a number of factors, said Abe Cotter, OCL flunky.

"We are marshaling the whole Marvin Center staff to be more sensitive because of recent complaints," Cotter said. "We need to control and decrease the activity so people feel comfortable using the restrooms."

Cotter said he received "very low if not non-existent" reports of witnessed physical activity in the past few years, saying most of the complaints are based on "suspicions."

"The issue of the bathrooms is a serious problem for safety and security of people using the building," he said, adding that he hopes more people will report events to security or Marvin Center Operations. "If more people report incidents, we can better document when and where these things happen."

(Sounds like Cotter needs a little action himself.)

He said past attempts - such as locking the restrooms at specific times, increasing ID checks or taking the doors off bathroom stalls - have either failed or were rejected by Marvin Center officials. (Why not just try Nazi stormtroopers?)

GW Student Association president John David Morris (when in doubt, get a quote from the SA pres) is outraged at the pervasiveness of the activity in the Marvin Center, and Tuesday night he reported to University Police two "suspicious men" he witnessed in the fourth floor men's bathroom.

(Are you sure it wasn't just Scott Mory and Damian McKenna making campaign photocopies, John David?)

"We have to clean them out of the Marvin Center," Morris said yesterday. "It is not an impossible task if GW security and Marvin

Have you seen these two people in the Marvin Center fourth floor bathroom? Your SA president has.

Center staff cooperate."

Goode said that from Jan. 1 to Feb. 5, security has issued 18 barring notices this year to suspicious people on campus. (Didn't we say earlier that it was four for the year?) He added that 293 were issued last year.

The barring notices have been effective because "they heed our warning," Goode said, adding that security issues, on the average, one or two arrests for repeated warnings a month.

Bar: Tequila, Odds and Flicks
Where: Just follow the freshmen, greeks and athletes.
Crowd: See above.
Getting in: Yeah right. A note from mommy will suffice.
Prices: Outrageous, but what do you expect?
Food: Hey, you're here to get wasted. Why bother with food?
Dancing: "Oh Macarena."
Pick-ups: "What year are you?"
Pluses: Read the freakin' review, OK?
Minuses: Uh, whatever.

It's a cold day in hell when the Bar Smelle goes somewhere new. With her New Hampshire fake ID firmly in hand, she walks the two feet from campus to one of these three locations that will serve just about anyone ... but if you wear Greek letters on your chest or are on the six-year plan for any athletic team, you have the definite advantage.

The Bar Smelle isn't too sure why she's telling you about Tequila, Odds or Flicks, because if you've never been to any of these locales then either a) you're not really a GW student so why are you reading this?, or b) if you knock on your neighbor's door they will fill you in, rendering the Bar Smelle's task useless. But hey, she always appreciates the chance to share her immense amount of knowledge about the bar scene with the masses.

The music is just like the crap they play at J Street after hours (not that anyone would know; you all are at Tequila, Odds and Flicks and not in J Street). Which means you'll hear that Spanish line dancing song 14 times, courtesy of a drunk sorority chick who keeps requesting it as she flirts with the Deejay.

So the thing about these places is that not only do they let anyone who's reached puberty pay percentages of their tuition for watered down beverages, you will see the same people every time you go to any of these places. And they will all be GW students (or guys from Maryland who are there because they heard that GW girls are sluts).

The Bar Smelle did a recent experiment: one night, she went to all three places, and the same exact people were at all three. This lends credence to the theory that there are 200 different GW students, and everyone else is a cloned reproduction of the original 200.

You can go to any of these three places any Thursday, Friday, Tuesday or Saturday and have the exact same experience every night of the semester. You will get a buzz off bad beer. You will listen to someone tell you exactly why GW lost to Iowa before he tries to stick his tongue down your throat. You will smell like stale cigarettes for the next month.

And then you can stumble the two feet back to campus.

Northwestern University Summer Session '96

Beaches and Bio

Think you can't hit the beach and the books this summer? You can at Northwestern. With over 300 courses to choose from, easy access to Chicago, and a beautiful lakefront location, Northwestern University Summer Session '96 offers you beaches with your bio class, or whatever else you want to study.

So if you're looking for some extra credit this summer, don't miss your chance to catch up, get ahead, or just study something new. With Northwestern's intensive course sequences in

Without Walls, school ceiling collapses; shit

The ceiling in the School Without Walls caved in Sunday, due to what city engineers are calling a "lack of structural support" and "major design flaws."

"We're surprised it stayed up as long as it did," said Chief Engineer Ed.

Students and faculty have often complained about the noise level and low temperatures in the school due to the building's overall draftiness and bad acoustics.

The school's original blueprints called for walls, but at the time of construction D.C. could not afford all of the materials necessary to complete its plans. Architects then decided to do away with what they called "unnecessary and costly extras."

Due to the current city budget problems, the school will remain closed indefinitely.

Students will be given one-way bus tickets to Anacostia schools if they still want to attend school. Teachers will be laid off, and the janitorial staff will be offered posts in the upper echelon of the Barry administration.

J Street closes; becomes S&M playground

GW Director of the Ladies Auxiliary and Psychiatric Institutional Support Services Nancie "I Hate Students" Haaaaaga announced this week that students may no longer eat at the J Street dining facility between the hours of 6 a.m. and 3 a.m.

The cut-back in hours, Haaaaaga said, is a result of "those stupid annoying students always bitching and moaning. We just don't want to deal with them anymore."

Students who do want to eat should go to Miriam's

Kitchen and get in line, Haaaaaga said. She added that the MC Store will now be taking meal equivalencies for specials on gruel and Castor Oil stew.

As for the J Street facility that will no longer be in use, Haaaaaga said she intends to remake the food court into a dark, rat-infested torture chamber for the new GW Sado-Masochist Organization.

"Of course students won't be invited," Haaaaaga said. "You think I actually like them?"

No Hatchet for you! No Hatchet for you! NONE!

MANGO B. HOLLERING

NONE OF YOUR BUSINESS EDITOR

Due to the large demand of It, By George and the Authority, there has been no room for The GW Hatchet at the designated areas for publications on campus.

Now The Hatchets can only be picked up by people who go to The Hatchet office themselves. Unfortunately, due to locked windows and bad air circulation, all The Hatchet editors died. In an effort to let the paper live on, I took the liberty of writing this article. I am not an editor, I just write like one.

To my surprise, while walking through Trachtenberg's Bagel and Lox Box, formerly the Academic Center, I overheard a freshman and senior, who choose to remain nameless, having a conversation.

"Excuse me, is that a Hatchet you're reading?" an unsuspecting freshman asked a senior.

"No, it's the It's By George's Authority." The publications believed if they joined forces for good they could be even bigger and better than The Hatchet.

Well, I (the none of your business editor) am here to say, "Long Live The Hatchet," even if I am the only editor. You ask why did I take on this job? That's none of your business.

GW Colonials sign five of America's Most Wanted

Recruits lead country in steals, fouls, rape, arson, murder

BY BEN ISGONE
MISSING IN ACTION

The GW men's basketball program received a controversial influx of young talent yesterday, recruiting Tupac Shakur, Charles Manson, William Kennedy-Smith, Bob Packwood and Jeffrey Dahmer to play for the Colonials next year.

The signings come after GW attempted to sign Itchie Porker (Pork her? I hardly even know her!) last summer and had to back away from the point guard/public relations disaster after the media roasted the University for providing scholarships for rapists.

"After all the trouble we had last summer, we said, 'Screw standards,'" admitted GW President Steven Mole Blackenedword. "All of these guys have terrific jump shots, and besides, it's not like they killed anybody. Well, okay, maybe one or two, but it's no big deal."

In addition, to demonstrate their concern for the issues involved with signing these goons, University officials announced they are giving free scholarships to all of the recruits' victims, including the dead ones.

Director of Housing Pool Barkette said there was only a 50 percent chance that the victims would end up living in the same room as their assailants.

"I think the issue is forgiving young men and giving them second chances," said Vice President for a Variety of Stuff Bob Chernicknack-paddywack. "I mean, doesn't this community have any heart to forgive? O.J. Simpson has feelings, too."

Public Relations Director Like Heedman held his head in his hands and moaned, "Here we go again."

However, some students expressed constipation-level discomfort with the idea. Sissy Realsensitiveguy, president of Wimmin's Bissues Now, remarked with consternation, "C'mon. For Christ's sake, one of these recruits is dead."

"Cross him off, then!" sneered Blackenedword.

"After all the trouble we had last summer, we said, 'Screw standards.' I want the rapist here, and there will be no one to stop us this time."

-GW's Hubris Personified Steven Mole Blackenedword

SPORKS BEEFS

Rugby Team Exists, Lies

The GW rugby team is the number one team in the nation! According to rugby team captain James "Pathological Liar" Greedy, he single-handedly beat the University of North Steroid Big Guys 8,767-3, scoring all of the team's points and tackling every opposing player.

The team lost the shutout when Greedy cracked his spine on the final play. The team doctor attributed the injury to karma.

"We really did win. Sure we did. You can trust us," Greedy said while winking uncontrollably.

After the game, Greedy flew to his summer home in Jabip, Mongolia, where he delivered a child, stopped an assassination of the President, married Morgan Fairchild, and scouted baseball players for the Boston Red Sox with Dan "Fan" Makin-itup.

INS raids Smith Center, entire teams deported

America's war on immigration took an ugly turn last week when the Immigration and Naturalization Service raided the Chuck E. Smith Center and deported 387 of GW's 400 student athletes.

"It's pretty bad," said INS agent Sorry Jose Buchanan. "They got Belorussians, Canadians, Portuguese, and Lilliputians on the basketball team, Russians in volleyball, Yugoslavian whatever on the women's basketball team, stuffy Brits on the soccer team, and the only green card they all have can be redeemed at Mick's."

The event divided the campus. Spurts Infoguy Brad Bowowower said the University would unleash a horde of lawyers over this, while AmeriKan Kollege Konservatory Generalissimo Nickles Protecto applauded the action.

"This is an American University for American students. There are too many damn foreigners around here anyway," Protecto said.

"Man," moaned a frustrated GW men's basketball coach Mick Jaggervis. "This is going to be tough. I've never recruited in America before."

Buchanan said he would next raid the "damn feriner infested" International Shitupon Karate, Harassment and Incest Club. IS-KIC Vice President and Tool Dalia Isafool said the club would put up whiny posters about it.

Student Killed in Baseball Celebration

A GW sophomore was killed while celebrating a Colonials baseball victory at Barcroft Park, which we think is somewhere in Wisconsin. The team had just beaten The School Without Walls 3-2 in extra innings when the unnamed student was killed by a mob of angry SWW fans.

Apparently, the student was not at the park to watch GW play baseball, but instead was there to watch the Hooters Restaurant rec-league softball team in action.

"It's a shame that he was killed, since he was the first fan we have ever had at a GW baseball game," said GW assistant sports infoguy Bliss Stocktonsoffair.

With the win, GW now stands at 1-87 for the season. Unfortunately, the game will not count in the official standings, since the SWW team is, coincidentally, also a rec-league team which was mistakenly scheduled by GW.

Belorussian athlete smuggling linked to GW; violates NAFTA

BY MATT BONER AND VULL GARRITY

LAURENT'S LOONIES

GW men's basketball coach Mick Jaggervis has been indicted in a Belorussian baby smuggling scandal.

The Colonials violated several U.S.-Belarus trade laws when they illegally brought Sashuh Koolio, his brother Andrei Sitonthebenchov, his other brother Andrei Calvin and Hobbos, and distant cousin Yagore Turnyerhedandkov to GW to play basketball.

In addition to the four, GW has secretly brought over several Belorussian babies with exceptionally tall DNA. Authorities believe falsely adopted children passed customs by being hidden in new recruits' shoes, including possibly the sneakers of Bird Well-I-ams.

Analysts predict this will ruin Jarvis' attempt to overthrow current Belorussian government.

Belorussian Foreign Minister and Director of Basketball Affairs Ohwhy Dontyugofucov, was enraged by the University's activities. "Herrishaw, zafta, schtaw, schtaw, vodka and borscht," he said, which translates as, "Comrade Jarviski hast stolen der tallest of our people. We will get you next time, Americanskis."

However, the Russkie's threat may be overblown, according to analysts. Elliott's School of International Fairs Dean Harry Hardofhearing said, "Belarus can't feed its own people enough vodka. They're bluffing. We would have kicked their ass in the Cold War. Better dead than red, Boris."

He also pointed out they had made a vital step in combating alcoholism in the country, raising the drinking age from two to four.

Other reactions were less confident. Director of Athlete's Foot Jack Kvanzc (45 points in Scrabble) commented that he doesn't eat French toast because he's on a diet. Stupid Association President Mock Ronalds straddled the fence quietly.

By the way, what's with this year's Final Four? Sorry about that, Professor Willson-Quayle, this year was just plain nutty.
